

De a e f CJ J & CJ J a J Jce

Graduate students in the Criminology program can apply for funding through the University's Graduate Students' Association (GSA) to help with their tuition fees.

The GSA offers three types of funding: Research Assistantships, Teaching Assistantships, and Graduate Fellowships. These awards are based on academic merit and financial need. Applications for these awards are available at the GSA website: www.gsa.ubc.ca.

My J CJ J

Graduate students can apply for funding through the My J program. This program offers funding to students who have demonstrated financial need.

Ma J CJ J

Graduate students can apply for funding through the Ma J program. This program offers funding to students who have demonstrated financial need.

Honours Program in Criminology

The Honours Program in Criminology is designed for students who want to pursue a career in law enforcement or criminal justice. The program requires a minimum of 120 credits, including 30 credits of upper-level courses. Students must also complete a research project and a thesis. The program is offered in both English and French.

Students in the Honours Program continue to receive funding from the University.

For more information, contact:

Dr. Michael J. Cullen

Department of Criminology

University of British Columbia
Vancouver, BC V6T 1Z3
Canada

CRIM-1013	Introduction to Criminology
CRIM-1023	Introduction to Criminal Justice
CRIM-2013	Early Criminological Theory
CRIM-2103	Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods
CRIM-2113	Introduction to Quantitative Research Methods (POLS 2913)

Theoretical & Methodological Studies

CRIM-1013	Introduction to Criminology
CRIM-1023	Introduction to Criminal Justice
CRIM-2013	Early Criminological Theory
CRIM-2103	Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods
CRIM-2113	Introduction to Quantitative Research Methods (POLS 2913)

CRIM-1013. Introduction to Criminology

This course introduces students to the field of criminology. It covers the basic concepts and theories of criminology, including the nature and causes of criminal behavior, the criminal justice system, and the role of criminology in society. Students will learn about various theoretical perspectives, research methods, and practical applications of criminology in law enforcement, corrections, and social policy.

CRIM-1023. Introduction to Criminal Justice

This course introduces students to the field of criminal justice. It covers the basic concepts and processes of the criminal justice system, including law enforcement, prosecution, defense, and sentencing. Students will learn about the history and evolution of the criminal justice system, its major components, and its impact on society. The course also explores the challenges and controversies facing the criminal justice system today.

CRIM-2013. Early Criminological Theory

This course examines the historical development of criminological theory. It focuses on the early theories of crime causation, including classical, positivist, and biological perspectives. Students will also study the work of key figures in early criminology, such as Cesare Lombroso, Cesare Beccaria, and Auguste Comte, and analyze their contributions to the field.

CRIM-2103. Introduction to Qualitative Research Methods

This course introduces students to qualitative research methods in criminology. It covers the basic concepts and techniques of qualitative research, including ethnography, case studies, and participant observation. Students will learn how to design and conduct qualitative research projects, analyze qualitative data, and interpret findings in a meaningful way.

CRIM-2113. Introduction to Quantitative Research Methods (POLS 2913)

This course introduces students to quantitative research methods in criminology. It covers the basic concepts and techniques of quantitative research, including descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and regression analysis. Students will learn how to design and conduct quantitative research projects, analyze quantitative data, and interpret findings in a meaningful way.

LEVEL 3 COURSES – THEORETICAL AND PRACTICAL CRIMINOLOGY
AND CRIMINAL JUSTICE*CRIM-2443. Human Skeletal Biology

COURSE NUMBER: CRIM-2443 CREDIT HOURS: 3.00 PREREQUISITES: None. This course is designed to introduce students to the study of skeletal biology. It will cover the basic principles of forensic anthropology, including the identification of human remains, the analysis of skeletal structures, and the application of these principles to criminal investigations.

CRIM-2463. Cultural Criminology

COURSE NUMBER: CRIM-2463 CREDIT HOURS: 3.00 PREREQUISITES: None. This course explores the concept of cultural criminology, which examines the role of culture in the development and perpetuation of crime. It will cover topics such as the relationship between culture and criminal behavior, the impact of media representations of crime, and the role of cultural diversity in criminal justice systems.

CRIM-2743. Social Protest in Canada

COURSE NUMBER: CRIM-2743 CREDIT HOURS: 3.00 PREREQUISITES: None. This course examines the history and nature of social protest in Canada. It will cover the development of protest movements, the role of different groups in these movements, and the impact of protest on society. The course will also explore the relationship between protest and criminal justice systems.

CRIM-2843. Corporate Crime and Corporate Regulation

COURSE NUMBER: CRIM-2843 CREDIT HOURS: 3.00 PREREQUISITES: None. This course examines the nature and regulation of corporate crime. It will cover topics such as the role of corporations in criminal activity, the impact of corporate crime on society, and the development of regulations to address corporate crime. The course will also explore the relationship between corporate crime and criminal justice systems.

CRIM-2943. Victimology

COURSE NUMBER: CRIM-2943 CREDIT HOURS: 3.00 PREREQUISITES: None. This course examines the concept of victimology, which focuses on the needs and rights of victims in the criminal justice system. It will cover topics such as the impact of crime on victims, the role of victims in the criminal justice process, and the development of policies to support victims. The course will also explore the relationship between victimology and criminal justice systems.

CRIM-3003. Special Topics in Criminology and Criminal Justice

COURSE NUMBER: CRIM-3003 CREDIT HOURS: 3.00 PREREQUISITES: None. This course allows students to explore specialized topics in criminology and criminal justice. The specific topics will be determined by the instructor and may include issues such as terrorism, cybercrime, or environmental crime. The course will be taught through a combination of lectures, readings, and practical exercises.

CRIM-3013. Contemporary Criminological Theory

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine contemporary criminological theory. It will examine the major theories of criminal behaviour and their application to the criminal justice system. The course will also examine the relationship between criminological theory and criminal justice policy.

CRIM-3103. Advanced Qualitative Research Methods

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine advanced qualitative research methods. It will cover topics such as ethnography, case studies, and content analysis. The course will also examine the use of qualitative methods in criminal justice research.

CRIM-3123. Contemporary Issues in Criminal Justice

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine contemporary issues in criminal justice. It will cover topics such as the death penalty, police conduct, and sentencing guidelines. The course will also examine the impact of contemporary issues on the criminal justice system.

CRIM-3143. Charter Rights and Criminal Justice

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine charter rights and their application to criminal justice. It will cover topics such as the right to silence, the right to a trial, and the right to a fair trial. The course will also examine the impact of charter rights on the criminal justice system.

CRIM-3153. Criminal Behaviour

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine criminal behaviour. It will cover topics such as the causes of criminal behaviour, the nature of criminal behaviour, and the treatment of offenders. The course will also examine the impact of criminal behaviour on society.

CRIM-3223. Criminal Procedure

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine criminal procedure. It will cover topics such as the rules of evidence, the right to a trial, and the right to a fair trial. The course will also examine the impact of criminal procedure on the criminal justice system.

CRIM-3243. Advanced Criminal Law

COURSE OUTLINE: This course will examine advanced criminal law. It will cover topics such as the rules of evidence, the right to a trial, and the right to a fair trial. The course will also examine the impact of advanced criminal law on the criminal justice system.

CRIM 3253. Pre-Honours Workshop

This course will introduce students to the concepts of research methods and statistics. It will focus on the basic concepts of research design, sampling, measurement, data analysis, and interpretation. The course will also cover the basics of statistical analysis, including descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and hypothesis testing. The goal of the course is to provide students with the skills and knowledge necessary to conduct research in their chosen field of study.

CRIM-3263. Crime and the Media

This course will examine the relationship between the media and crime. It will explore how the media represent and construct crime stories, and how these representations shape public perceptions of crime. The course will also examine the role of the media in shaping public attitudes towards crime and justice, and the impact of media coverage on criminal justice policy and practice. The goal of the course is to provide students with an understanding of the complex dynamics between the media and crime, and to encourage critical thinking about the role of the media in society.

CRIM-3273. Crime in Popular Film

This course will examine the representation of crime in popular film. It will explore how film depicts crime, justice, and punishment, and how these depictions reflect broader societal attitudes and values. The course will also examine the impact of film on public perceptions of crime and justice, and the role of film in shaping public attitudes towards criminal justice issues. The goal of the course is to provide students with an understanding of the complex dynamics between film and crime, and to encourage critical thinking about the role of film in society.

CRIM-3283. Crime Prevention

This course will examine the concept of crime prevention. It will explore the various approaches to crime prevention, including social control, social disorganization, and social learning theories. The course will also examine the practical applications of crime prevention, such as community-based programs and law enforcement strategies. The goal of the course is to provide students with an understanding of the principles and practices of crime prevention, and to encourage critical thinking about the effectiveness of different approaches.

CRIM-3503. Wrongful Conviction!

This course will examine the concept of wrongful conviction. It will explore the causes of wrongful conviction, including police misconduct, prosecutorial error, and judicial bias. The course will also examine the consequences of wrongful conviction, such as physical and emotional harm to the无辜受害者, and the impact on the criminal justice system. The goal of the course is to provide students with an understanding of the issue of wrongful conviction, and to encourage critical thinking about the need for reform.

CRIM-3563. Visual Criminology

CRIM-3563. Visual Criminology (3) This course will introduce students to the field of visual criminology, which is the study of crime through the lens of visual media.

CRIM-4112. Crime Scene Investigation and Evidence Collection
This course will introduce students to the basic concepts of crime scene investigation and evidence collection. Students will learn how to identify and collect evidence at a crime scene, as well as how to preserve and analyze that evidence. The course will also cover the legal aspects of crime scene investigation, including the search warrant process and chain of custody.

CRIM-4113. Advanced Data Analysis

This course will build upon the concepts learned in CRIM-4112, focusing on more advanced techniques for analyzing crime scene data. Students will learn how to use statistical software to analyze large datasets, as well as how to interpret the results of those analyses. The course will also cover the use of machine learning algorithms to predict crime patterns and identify potential suspects.

CRIM-4123. Peacemaking Criminology and Restorative Justice

This course will introduce students to the concepts of peacemaking criminology and restorative justice. Students will learn how these approaches can be used to address crime and its impact on victims and communities. The course will also cover the history and development of these approaches, as well as their practical applications in criminal justice settings.

CRIM-4133. International and Comparative Criminal Justice

This course will introduce students to the concepts of international and comparative criminal justice. Students will learn how different countries approach crime and justice, as well as how international law and organizations affect these approaches. The course will also cover the challenges of addressing crime on a global scale, as well as the importance of cooperation between countries in fighting crime.

CRIM-4143. Hate Crime

This course will introduce students to the concept of hate crime. Students will learn how hate crimes are defined, as well as how they are addressed by the criminal justice system. The course will also cover the social and historical context of hate crimes, as well as the impact they have on victims and communities.

CRIM-4233. Policing, Security, and Governance

1995-1996 学年第二学期期中考试高二年级物理试题卷

CRIM-4273. Advanced Studies in Crime in Popular Film

1960, the first year of the new century, the world's population reached 3 billion.
In 1974, it reached 4 billion. In 1987, it reached 5 billion. In 1999, it reached 6 billion.
In 2011, it reached 7 billion. In 2012, it reached 7.1 billion. In 2013, it reached 7.2 billion.
In 2014, it reached 7.3 billion. In 2015, it reached 7.6 billion. In 2016, it reached 7.7 billion.
In 2017, it reached 7.8 billion. In 2018, it reached 7.9 billion. In 2019, it reached 8 billion.
In 2020, it reached 8.1 billion. In 2021, it reached 8.2 billion. In 2022, it reached 8.3 billion.
In 2023, it reached 8.4 billion. In 2024, it reached 8.5 billion. In 2025, it reached 8.6 billion.
In 2026, it reached 8.7 billion. In 2027, it reached 8.8 billion. In 2028, it reached 8.9 billion.
In 2029, it reached 9 billion. In 2030, it reached 9.1 billion. In 2031, it reached 9.2 billion.
In 2032, it reached 9.3 billion. In 2033, it reached 9.4 billion. In 2034, it reached 9.5 billion.
In 2035, it reached 9.6 billion. In 2036, it reached 9.7 billion. In 2037, it reached 9.8 billion.
In 2038, it reached 9.9 billion. In 2039, it reached 10 billion.

CRIM-4403. Feminist Legal Studies

THESE PAPERS ARE THE PROPERTY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO LIBRARIES.
REPRODUCTION IS PROHIBITED EXCEPT FOR PRIVATE RESEARCH PURPOSES.

CRIM-4423. Power and Control in Society

CRIM-4503. Discourse and Crime

CRIM-4513. Ethnography and Crime

1990-1991. Journal of Management Education, 15(1), 1-11.

CRIM-4906, Honours Research Thesis

THESE ARE THE NAMES OF THE FIVE HUNDRED FAMILIES WHICH ARE TO BE ADMITTED INTO THE CITY OF NEW YORK. THE NAMES ARE AS FOLLOWS:
1. THE BROWN FAMILY. 2. THE GREEN FAMILY. 3. THE RED FAMILY.
4. THE BLUE FAMILY. 5. THE PURPLE FAMILY.

Bac e fA J ed A CJ J a J Jce

Graduates of the Bachelor of Applied Arts in Justice program will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the Canadian Criminal Code, the Corrections Act, and other relevant legislation, and apply this knowledge to analyze and evaluate the justice system. They will also demonstrate an understanding of the principles of criminal justice, and apply this knowledge to analyze and evaluate the justice system.

Graduates of the Bachelor of Applied Arts in Justice program will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the Canadian Criminal Code, the Corrections Act, and other relevant legislation, and apply this knowledge to analyze and evaluate the justice system. They will also demonstrate an understanding of the principles of criminal justice, and apply this knowledge to analyze and evaluate the justice system.

Requirements for NBCC graduates of the Criminal Justice, Correctional Techniques, or Police Foundations diploma:

Year 3

Students are required to take:

- CJ 101 Introduction to Criminal Justice
- CJ 102 Legal Aspects of Crime
- CJ 103 Criminology

Students must also select 6 credit hours from the following electives in each of year three and year four:

- CJ 104 Introduction to Policing
- CJ 105 Police and the Community
- CJ 106 Police and the Law
- CJ 107 Police and Society

Students must also select 6 credit hours from the following Humanities subjects:

- HUM 101 Introduction to Sociology
- HUM 102 Introduction to Psychology
- HUM 103 Introduction to Anthropology
- HUM 104 Introduction to Political Science

Year 4

Students are required to take:

- CJ 201 Intermediate Criminal Justice
- CJ 202 Intermediate Legal Aspects of Crime
- CJ 203 Intermediate Criminology
- CJ 204 Intermediate Policing

Students must also select 6 credit hours from the following electives in each of year three and year four:

- CJ 205 Intermediate Police and the Community
- CJ 206 Intermediate Police and the Law
- CJ 207 Intermediate Police and Society
- CJ 208 Intermediate Corrections

Requirements for CCNB graduates of the Techniques d'intervention en
délinquance diploma program:

Year 3

Year 3

3ch from:

- CRJS-3001 Government and the Criminal Justice System
- CRJS-3002 Law and Society
- CRJS-3003 Government and the Criminal Justice System
- CRJS-3004 Law and Society

6ch from one of the following streams:

- CRJS-3005 Criminology and Justice Studies & SOC-3001 Sociology & SOC-3002 Anthropology
- CRJS-3006 Criminology and Justice Studies & SOC-3003 Sociology & SOC-3004 Anthropology

Students must also select 6 credit hours from the following Humanities subjects:

- HUM-3001 English Literature
- HUM-3002 English Language
- HUM-3003 English Language
- HUM-3004 English Language

Year 4

Students are required to take:

- CRJS-3005 Criminology and Justice Studies
- CRJS-3006 Criminology and Justice Studies
- CRJS-3007 Criminology and Justice Studies
- CRJS-3008 Criminology and Justice Studies

Students must also select 3 credit hours from the following electives in each of year three and year four:

- CRJS-3009 Government and the Criminal Justice System
- CRJS-3010 Law and Society
- CRJS-3011 Government and the Criminal Justice System
- CRJS-3012 Law and Society

Students must also select 6 credit hours from the following Humanities subjects:

- HUM-3001 English Literature
- HUM-3002 English Language
- HUM-3003 English Language
- HUM-3004 English Language

CRJS-3003. Government and the Criminal Justice System

Government and the Criminal Justice System is designed to introduce students to the political and administrative structures of government and the criminal justice system. The course will examine the historical development of the criminal justice system, the role of government in the administration of justice, and the relationship between government and the criminal justice system. The course will also explore the impact of government policies on the criminal justice system, including the role of government in the development of law and policy, the relationship between government and the criminal justice system, and the impact of government policies on the administration of justice.

CRJS-3103. Integrative Seminar: Criminal Justice

Criminal Justice is a broad field of study that encompasses law enforcement, criminal justice, and corrections. It is concerned with the investigation, prosecution, and punishment of offenders, as well as the protection of society from criminal activity. The field of Criminal Justice is interdisciplinary, drawing upon knowledge from law, psychology, sociology, and criminology. The goal of Criminal Justice is to promote justice, safety, and security for all members of society.